$30 Billion in Construction Projects and You're Invited! Laborers Union Invites Contractors to Series of Meetings to Take Advantage of Construction Boom on Gulf Coast

Indianapolis, October 27, 2014: The Indiana Laborers District Council today announced the Laborers Midwest Region is hosting a series of meetings for contractors to discuss the opportunities for industrial and maintenance work in the Gulf Coast area.

David Frye, Business Manager of the Indiana Laborers District Council, explained that the Gulf Coast region anticipates its largest construction program ever over the course of the next decade. Additionally, projects exceeding $30 billion in value are planned to break ground within the twelve (12) months along with multiple billion dollar expansion projects. Frye added that the sheer dollar volume of work in this region presents an incredible opportunity for signatory contractors to expand their business and develop new revenue streams.

The first of the meetings, which are sponsored by the Laborers-Employers Cooperation and Education Trust (LECET), will be held on Thursday, November 13 from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. at the Houston Hobby Doubletree Hotel in Houston, Texas. This first meeting is conveniently scheduled at the end of the Construction Users Roundtable (CURT) meeting also in Houston on November 11 and 12.

Those who wish to attend the November 13 meeting or those who simply want more information about taking advantage of the many opportunities available in the Gulf Coast region should contact Randy Harris, Director of the Midwest Region Laborers-Employers Cooperation and Education Trust at: 618-558-9047 or rharris@midwestlaborers.org.
