Reap Construction Group Forms Dynamic New Partnership with Indiana Laborers Union

MBE Certified Company Focuses on Precision Quality

Indianapolis, August 24, 2015: Reap Construction Group (RCG) today announced they have formed a dynamic new partnership with the Indiana Laborers union. RCG's owner, Ryan Potter, has over ten years of proven experience providing high quality construction services throughout Indiana and Kentucky.

RCG works throughout the Midwest in the following primary scopes of work: site demo, interior demo, concrete curbs and sidewalks, job site signage and barricades, job site fencing and safety measures, post-construction clean-up and general services.

RCG's owner Ryan Potter said of the new partnership, "We are very excited about our partnership with the Laborers union and the opportunities this presents for us to open up new markets in Indiana. We greatly look forward to enhancing our company philosophy of long-term construction solutions such wrecking, building, and maintaining projects."

Ward Daniels, Business Manager of Laborers, Local 120 commented on the new partnership, "RCG is a great company with a focus on real quality and craftsmanship. They perform a variety of high quality construction services and we look forward to a long and successful partnership."

RCG corporate headquarters is located at: 3815 River Crossing Parkway, Suite 124, Indianapolis, Indiana 46250. For more information contact Ryan Potter at: 317-333-9740 or via email at: reapgc@gmail.com.
