Stapleton Enterprises Announces New Partnership with 12 Indiana Laborers Union Construction Locals

Aggressive New Strategy Brings Opportunities for Joint Ventures and Subcontracting Partnerships on Federal Projects

Indianapolis, January 23, 2009: Stapleton Enterprises, a Service Disabled Veteran Owned Business, today announced that they have signed Heavy Highway and Building agreements with all 12 Laborers Union construction locals throughout Indiana. Stapleton views the partnership with the Laborers Union as part of an aggressive new strategy to develop joint ventures and subcontracting relationships with other contractors on federal construction projects.

Owner John Stapleton, a distinguished armed services veteran, founded the company in 2001. As a Service Disabled Veteran Owned Business, Stapleton Enterprises is qualified to bid on all federal projects and intends to expand that market fully through future partnerships. Stapleton performs Project Management, Site Preparation, Excavation, Asphalt & Concrete Paving, Mold Remediation, and Asbestos Abatement work.

John Stapleton said of the new agreements with the Laborers Union, "This will be instrumental in taking the company to the next level. We are very excited about the possibilities and opportunities this will bring in the federal sector construction market. We look forward to creating much needed jobs in this economy as well as realizing the full potential of our company."

David Frye, Business Manager of Laborers Local 120, commented on the new partnership with Stapleton, "Stapleton Enterprises is a great company with a solid reputation. Their ability to build strategic partnerships with other contractors to effectively take advantage of opportunities in the federal sector is tremendous. We look forward to an excellent working relationship and future growth for all parties."

Stapleton Enterprises can be contacted via telephone at: 260-447-5673. Stapleton Enterprises corporate headquarters is located at: 4514 Leighton Lane, Fort Wayne, Indiana.
